

To be in relationship is to be in a state of openness.

It is to be receptive to otherness.

It is not to impose.

It is giving permission to be that

Which one is.

It is to desire knowledge.

It is to clear away all impediments to coherence,

Requires a clean and true communication,

So that I walk in your footsteps,

Speak and think with your language,

See with your eyes,

Hear with your ears,

Smell with your nose,

Taste with your taste buds,

Receive your emotions fully

As you desire them to be received.

To enter into relationship is to

Let go of the will to power over,

Is to become congruent,

Is to be in rapport with my

Unconscious mind.

So that all the messages I give out

Ring true,

And give permission to you, to simply

Be you with me.